MARKET RALLIES | COPPER MARKET IS AT LATE HOUR

Early Part of Session Shows Stocks Lacking Definite Supporting Movement.

FOREIGN INFLUENCES APPARENTLY PREDOMINATE

shrinkage in activity constituted the principal feature of the early stock market today, during which price movements were halting and irregular. The late bulge in prices was coincident with decline in wheat. The most plausible explanation of the change in the early appearance of the market was that supporting measures adopted yesterday and Saturday to guard the depressing effect of the death of the king of England were of the death of the king of England were desisted from. In London it seems the support of the market yesterday partook, in some measure, of a patriotic commonstration of the confidence in the new sovereign. There was less confidence professed in the duration of a truce between political parties in England. Immediate influences from the London market remained favorable to values. There was a further easing of the private discount rate and revived discussion of prospects for a reduction in the official discount rate of the Bank of England. The British trade return, showing an increase for April of $20,000,000 in the value of rubber imports over April of a jear ago, was pointed to as evidence of the material foundations on which Lonicon's rubber speculation is based. The movement among the granger railroad stocks reflected some divergence of sentiment over prospects for different classes of the wheat crop. The weekly bulletin of the weather bureau did not oncourage hopes of rapid progress in winter wheat from the unfavorable concourage hopes of rapid progress winter wheat from the unfavorab weather conditions.

The market for copper metals made show of strength both in London at New York and there were reports of son large sales effected here. The coppindustrials responded with a rise in price which proved a sustaining influence the general list. United States Steel do not share in the benefit of this movement, trading in that stock being a prices lower than yesterday's close for most of the day. There was a free crop of rumors of dividend increases at a revival of old ones touching Brookly Transit Cheasapeake & Ohio and Loutylle & Nashville prospects. Details we still lacking of sales abroad of America bonds, except for the general announcement of the placing of a large part of it Faltimore & Ohio note issue in foreig markets. St. Paul showed the bad effect of this lack of confirmation and was it victim of disparaging reports of the his yield which had to be allowed on I bonds to sell them in Paris.
